Females. The beauty and extreme delicacy of the female organization, to say nothing of its physiological characteris-tics, are sufficient indications that it is subject to forms of disease and modifications peculiar to itself. The physician of the present day does not encounter any more forms of uterine diseases than did the physician of fifty years ago; but owing to the present social condition of woman, her diseases are increased to frequency, and to the truth of this assertion the melancholy deaths by consumption bear ample witness.

At the American Dispensary we treat by a new method, and with the happiest results, Prolepsus Uteri, (falling of the womb,) Eruptions of the Skin, Chlorosis, or Green Sickness-characterized by yellowish, dirty green pallor of the surface; Emansic Messium, or absent Menstruction; Amenorrhea, or Retention of the Menses; Dysmenorrhea, a painful and diffi-cult flow of the Menses; Menorrhagia, or profuse Menstruction; Leuchorrhea, or excessive and altered secretion of the muous-generally white, or nearly coloress

I emit it for the council chamber, adding but one more disease to this list, and that is a formidable one-Therr for of the body of the Cterus, If you are afflicted with organic weakness, or any assemblage of movied phenomena of this character, you have no time to spare, but at once apply for med cal aid. If the late to arrest the disease, it is at least possible to palliate the symptoms, and thus smoothe the pathway to an untimely grave. In a majority of instances there diseases have made considerable progress before the pacient becomes slaraned. In some cases an emaciation is the first indication that attracts the attention of the patient's friends. And here, reader, let me call your earnest attention to the fearful significance of the word "wasting." It not only constitutes the leading feature, but the earliest and most ominous symptor s of Consumption, examples of which are invariably met with in young ladies who are gifted with high intellectual endowments, refined accomplishments, and eyes flashing with unnatural brilliancy-not regarding these indications as being those of inciplent disease, but those of personal charms. True, alas! the poet sings-"Consumptions' cheek ne'er looks more pure. And lovely, than when past all cure, And yet that bloom, so fresh so still, Has lent its fleeting aid to kill, And speaks, to those who watch its hue, Of a ckness, death and suffering too; Though who, just viewing arght so fair, Could dream that death was there?"

SYMPTOMS: The symptoms of Catarrh, as they generally appear, are at first very slight. Persons flud they have a cold, that they have frequent attacks, and are more sensitive to the changes of temperature. In this condition, the nose may be dry, or a slight discharge, thin and acrid, afterwards becoming thick and adhesive. As the disease becomes chronic, the discharges are increased in quantity and changed in quality; they are now thick and heavy, and are hawked or coughed off. The secretions are offensive, causing a bad breath; the voice is thick and nasal; the eyes are weak; the sense of the smell is lessened or destroyed; deafness frequently takes place. Another common and important symptom of Catarrh is, that the person is obliged to clear his throat in the morning of a thick or slimy mucus, which has fallen down from the head during the night. When this takes place the person may be sure that his disease is on its way to !! ings, and should lose no time in arresting it.
